

Teaching should be such that what is offered is perceived as a valuable gift and not as a hard duty. – Albert Einstein

(Lindsay and Hailey Martinez's parents sent this quote.)

Dear CEA Family,

Magic happened Saturday night on the stage. All performers gave their best with joy, professionalism, and love. From the tiniest to the oldest, they were examples of quality training and passion for the arts. But the miracle took place behind the scenes. Conchita's legacy was displayed on stage and lived backstage. The dedication, resourcefulness, and efficiency of our teachers and staff made the magic possible. The passion and love they put into making sure that every child was cared for, that the changes of costumes went on timely, that each child felt loved and supported are unique qualities of the Conchita family.

We thank you, the parents for valuing and understanding Conchita's philosophy, for supporting our teachers, for sharing your thoughts, for your trust. Conchita is a unique place for unique people.

Many blessings,

A handwritten signature in black ink, appearing to read 'Mandel G. Lopez', with a long, sweeping underline.