

If you have never been an artist
By Victoria Castro

If you've never been an artist, you'd never know the feeling of holding a paint brush, or the smell of new paint straight from the bottle. you would never know how much joy you feel when you finish a painting or how to draw your dreams and paint your thoughts.

If you've never been an artist, you may never know all the colors you can use in just one page, or the feeling of having your artwork hung in a special place.
You would never understand the kindness of giving someone a piece of your gift.

If you've never been an artist, you would never have a clue what it is to be congratulated for something you did with your own two hands, or hugged by your family when you know you did something well.

If you've never been an artist, you would never know how it feels for your art to be loved by someone you love!